INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY OF MAJOR FINDINGS

Since 1990, state and federal bank regulators have been required to make public their ratings of the performance of individual banks in serving the credit needs of local communities, in accordance with the provisions of the federal Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) and its Massachusetts counterpart. And since 1991, the Massachusetts Affordable Housing Alliance (MAHA) has issued annual reports offering a comprehensive listing and analysis of all CRA ratings of Massachusetts banks and credit unions. This is the sixteenth report in this annual series.

As defined in this report, there were 195 “Massachusetts banks” as of December 31, 2006. This includes not only 189 banks that have headquarters in the state, but also six large banks based elsewhere (Bank of America, Sovereign, and TD Banknorth each have more than 150 branches and over $7 billion of deposits in Massachusetts; Webster Bank has 19 branches and $1.2 deposits billion in the state; NewAlliance Bank has 14 branches and $0.5 billion deposits in the state; CitiBank opened five branches in Boston in late 2006 and plans to open 25 more by the end of 2007).¹ Table A-1 provides a listing of the 195 Massachusetts banks and their current CRA ratings. (Federally-chartered banks – currently 34 of the 195 – receive ratings only from their federal regulator; all other Massachusetts banks are state-chartered and receive ratings from both state and federal regulators.) Banks that operate in more than one state receive separate CRA ratings for each state as well as an overall CRA rating; for such banks, this report uses the CRA rating for their Massachusetts operations rather than the overall rating.² Table A-2 provides information on the 30 banks that have branches both inside and outside of Massachusetts, including eleven out-of-state banks that have a relatively small presence in the state and are not classified here as “Massachusetts banks.” Table A-3 provides a listing of the current CRA ratings of the state’s 98 state-chartered credit unions. Federally-chartered credit unions are not covered by CRA.

Tables 1-6 present information about the distribution of the most recent CRA ratings of all banks and credit unions as of year-end 2006; about the distribution of CRA ratings awarded during the calendar year 2006 and during earlier years; and on the number and distribution of CRA ratings awarded annually by each of the four federal bank regulators and by the state’s Division of Banks. Some of the notable findings contained in those tables may be summarized as follows:

- Of the 72 CRA ratings awarded to Massachusetts banks by all regulators combined during 2006, over one-third (34.7%) were “Outstanding” (40.0% for federal regulators and 28.1% for the state). The overall percentage is the highest on record (the previous high was 33.3% in 1997). (See Table 1.)
- When each bank is classified by its most recent CRA rating, over one quarter (28.1%) of all banks had a most recent rating of “Outstanding.” This is up two percentage points from the previous year and is the highest share of “Outstanding” ratings since 1997. Another 3.6% of banks had a most recent rating of “High Satisfactory,” and 67.7% of all banks had a most recent rating of

² To be more precise, banks with branches in more than one state receive not only an overall CRA rating, but also (1) a separate rating for each multistate metropolitan statistical area (MSA) within which they have branches in more than one state and (2) a separate rating for each state (the “state” rating excludes any part of the state covered by a multistate MSA rating). Since most of the Massachusetts activity of Bank of America and Sovereign is within multistate MSAs (e.g., the Boston MA-NH MSA) their “Massachusetts” CRA ratings are based on evaluation of only a small portion of their activity within the state. Therefore, their ratings in this report are those for these multistate MSAs. For TD Banknorth, the Mass. areas with ratings of “Satisfactory” included more census tracts and had more branches than the areas with ratings of “Outstanding”; thus the Mass. rating for this bank is shown as “Satisfactory.”

“Satisfactory.” The state continued to have one bank had a most recent rating lower than “Satisfactory.” (See Table 2.)

- Nine of the state’s ten biggest banks were rated “Outstanding” in their most recent CRA exam, and one was rated “Satisfactory.” Those receiving “Outstanding” ratings were: Bank of America (#1), Citizens (#2), Sovereign (#3), State Street (#4), Mellon Trust (#5), Investors Bank & Trust (#7), Eastern (#8), Middlesex Savings (#9), and Rockland Trust (#10). The bank rated “Satisfactory” was TD Banknorth (#6). (These are the ten banks with the most Massachusetts deposits as of mid-2006, according to the FDIC. See Table A-1 for ratings of all individual banks.)
- Only one bank has a current CRA rating lower than “Satisfactory.” In mid-2005, OneUnited Bank received a “Needs to Improve” rating for its Massachusetts operations from both the FDIC and the state’s Division of Banks, the lowest rating of any Massachusetts bank since 2001. Although the regulators’ overall rating of OneUnited Bank was “Satisfactory,” the bank operates in three states and its rating for Massachusetts was “Needs to Improve.” Its rating for California was “Outstanding,” but its rating for Florida was “Substantial Noncompliance.” OneUnited Bank is the state’s only African-American owned bank; until 2003 it was known as Boston Bank of Commerce.
- When banks are classified, for each regulator, in terms of the year in which they most recently received a CRA rating, the data reveal that the regulators are coming closer to meeting their minimum responsibilities than in recent years. In terms of the number of banks under their jurisdiction who have not received a federal CRA rating in the last five years, the Fed dropped from one to zero, the OCC held steady at one, the OTS held steady at none, and the FDIC dropped from four to two. In addition, the number of state-chartered banks that have not received a CRA rating from the Division of Banks during the last five years fell from 21 to 20. Only one bank, the OCC’s Milford National Bank, has not received at least one CRA rating (either from its federal regulator or from the state) within the last five years. (See Table 4.)
- The number of state-chartered credit unions with “Outstanding” ratings, after remaining at seven (about 7% of the total) for eight consecutive years, fell to six when one of the credit unions with an “Outstanding” rating disappeared in a merger. No credit union has had a rating of less than “Satisfactory” since 1997. Thirteen ratings were awarded in 2006; at that rate, it would take more than seven years to provide ratings for every credit union. Indeed, as of year-end 2006 sixteen credit unions had not received a CRA rating in the last five years; two of these have most recent ratings based on exams dated in 1998. (See Tables 5 & 6.)

For Additional Information:

- A great deal of information on the CRA (Community Reinvestment Act) in general, and on the CRA evaluation/examination/rating system in particular is now readily available on the web sites of the state’s Division of Banks (www.state.ma.us/dob) and of the federal bank regulators: the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, or FDIC (www.fdic.gov); the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, or OCC (www.occ.treas.gov); the Office of Thrift Supervision, or OTS (www.ots.treas.gov); and the Federal Reserve, or Fed (www.federalreserve.gov).
- Almost all of the CRA Performance Evaluations for Massachusetts banks and credit unions are available in their entirety at the websites of the regulators that prepared them, where they can be read on-line, down-loaded to one’s own computer, or printed out.

 No Massachusetts bank has received a rating of "Substantial NonCompliance" since 1992.
 This table omits the Fed, which has given between 0 and 2 ratings per year; it gave one rating (OUT) in 2006.

* All numbers in this table exclude the three banks that began to operate in Mass. in 2006 and have not yet received any CRA rating for Mass. These are 2 new banks (regulated by Mass & FDIC) plus Citibank (OCC) with new Mass branches.

^ The bank not rated by the OCC in the last 5 years is Milford NB, last rated in 1997.

The banks not rated by the FDIC in the last 5 years: Investors B&T (last rated in 1997) and Mechanics Co-op (last rated in 1998).

The state last rated Northampton Co-op in 1999. Five other banks were last rated in 2000 and 14 others were last rated in 2001.

The only bank that has not received a rating from any regulator in the last five years is Milford NB, last rated by the OCC in 1997.

Notes: Data for 1991-1994 are for 12-month periods ending October 31, rather than December 31.
The rating of "High Satisfactory" became available for the first time in mid-1997.
In both 1991 & 1992, one of the ratings shown here as "NI" was actually "Substantial NonCompliance."
Two of the state's 98 state-chartered credit unions have most recent ratings based on exams dated in 1998:
Haverhill Muni Employees CU & New Bedford CU. The most recent rating of one more credit union -- Newton
Muni Employees CU -- is based on an exam dated during 1999. The most recent ratings of five more CUs are based on exams dated in 2000. In total, 16 state-chartered CUs have not had exams in the last 5 years.
